Hannah excels at working closely with her clients and involving them deeply in the design and construction of her projects. Her diverse portfolio reflects her passion for non-profit work, including social services, religious, healthcare, and arts organizations serving the community. These clients include The ARK, the Alexian Brotherhood, eta Creative Arts Foundation, Inc., Makom Solel Lakeside, North Shore Congregation Israel, and Northlight Theater. Often in the case of a non-profit, an organization may invest in substantial renovations or new construction for the first time. Hannah's depth of knowledge provides a foundation for the organization's confidence in a process that might be new to them. She is a keen communicator and guide regarding issues, challenges, and opportunities.
